VIA NEW-YORK.

PARIS, APRIL 20.

The city is once more ſurrounded by all the pomp of war. The government has aſſembled troops, and eſtabliſhed camps around the walls. Yet not a ſingle ground of alarm can be diſcovered; every thing is perfectly calm at preſent; the Jacobins have returned to their duty. Of thoſe who form conjectures, and ſeek to divine the ſecrets of government, ſome are of opinion, that theſe meaſures have been adopted to reſtrain the audacity of the Jacobins, previous to the trial of the aſſaſſins of the 2d of September; for whoſe releaſe, it is pretended, they have laid ſome plans: others believe that it is for the purpoſe of enſuring a freedom of opinion to the legiſlative body, in the approaching debates on the ſuppreſſion of popular ſocieties: but thoſe who pretend to be more profound in their political ſpeculations, ſay, that the government have been led to it by a dread of revolt, on the part of the workmen and labourers, who are to receive their wages in mandats. The moſt trifling circumſtances may, in fact, enable the government to form a juſt idea of the public opinion, or rather of the opinion of the multitude. Now it was lately remarked, on the proclamation of the mandats, that the exclamation of Vive la Republic! thundered forth by the officer, was not repeated by a ſingle perſon. A cold and gloomy ſilence prevailed; or rather, inſtead of the demonſtrations of joy formerly evinced, every ſymptom of diſcontent was now viſible. There is a claſs of men who are always diſpleaſed with the meaſures of government; a claſs born for riot, pillage and blood, whom factions denominate the people, but who are really the enemies of the public intereſt, and can alone be kept within the bounds of duty by the fight of cannon and bayonets.

APRIL 21.

Letters from Marſeilles, Bourdeaux, and moſt of the commercial towns, ſtate that all commerce is ſuſpended, and that nothing is ſold but articles of the firſt neceſſity.

The factions are alarmed at the vigourous meaſures which have been taken to ſuppreſs them; they are gone to hide their fury in their ſubterraneous caverns. Their groupes are diſperſed. Paris wears an appearance of tranquility. But government muſt not relax its vigilance; it muſt not be forgotten, that though diſperſed, on the 12th Germinal, laſt year, the terroriſts again attacked the national convention on the 1ſt Prairial, and dipped their hands in the blood of Ferraud.

During the whole of yeſterday, patroles of horſe conſtantly paraded the bridges, and diſperſed the groupes wherever thay aſſembled.

The "Obſerver of the South" ſtates, that the maſter of a veſſel that left Genoa on the 14th and arrived at Marſeilles on the 17th, reports, that at his departure, the people of Genoa, in a ſtate of inſurrection, had taken up arms, and that the French emigrants had received orders to quit the town.

Part of the artillery has already been placed in the camp formed under the walls of Paris, in the plain of Grenelle. This camp, it is ſaid, is to conſiſt of 20,000 men. Its object is not known.

The day before yeſterday, domiciliary viſits were made at Ivry, a village in the neighbourhood of Paris; when citizen Maulevrier was arreſted on a charge of having commanded a part of the armed force of the ſection of the Luxenburgh, on the month of Vendemire, and of carrying on a correſpondence with the emigrants.

Extract of a letter from the conſul general of the French republic at Tunis, to the miniſter of Marine.

"20th Ventoſe.

"The daſtardly Engliſh have juſt proved that there is nothing ſacred in their eyes. Yeſterday a diviſion of ſhips of war carried off under the fort of Goulette, in the moſt open contempt of the rights of nations and of neutrality, two ſmall veſſels of the republic, together with the frigate the Nemeſis, which had been before taken from theſe pirates. To complete their wickedneſs, when, at the propoſal of their admiral, I ſent for the crews of the ſhips they had ſtolen, the Brigands would not give up the ſailors. Vengeance, Frenchmen, Vengeance!"

Several merchants talk of augmenting the price of their merchandize.

The mandat loſt yeſterday from 80 to 81 per cent. The Louis was at 4850 and 5900.

A meſſage was ſent from the executive directory, ſtating the amount of the levies of the forced loan; forty-ſeven departments produced 331,369,617 livres, aſſignats, to the amount of 3,157,652,100 livres, have been burnt. There remains yet aſſignats in circulation to the amount of 25,000 millions. The council ordered the contents of this meeting to be printed.

LONDON, APRIL 25.

It was expected that notice would be given for the ceſſation of the armiſtice on the 18th inſtant. The archduke was accompanied by the Count de Bellegarde, whoſe advice, it is ſuppoſed, will regulate the operations of the enſuing campaign. General Wurmſer is to be ſecond in command.

The news of the invaſion of the electorate of Hanover by the French, though ſtated in ſuch poſitive terms by the Pariſian journals, is wholly devoid of foundation.

The war between Ruſſia and the Porte, has not yet been declared, tho' the letters from Conſtantinople ſtate, ſuch an event as likely to take place in a very ſhort time.

In Italy, the combined forces have been augmented to 110,000 men, and when the laſt accounts came away, they were preparing to commence offenſive operations.

APRIL 28.

The maſs of French papers which we received yeſterday, together with the length of the important intelligence which they contained, prevented us, though we gave their principal contents from entering into that regular detail of particulars which we have now an opportunity of doing.

We yeſterday gave an account of two battles in Italy, both of which ended unfavorable for the allied Auſtrian and Sardinian arms.

The firſt, which took place on the 14th inſtant, was conteſted with great obſtinacy on either ſide; though it finally terminated to the diſadvantage of the Auſtrians, who are ſtated by their adverſaries to have loſt, in killed, wounded and priſoners nearly 4000 men.

Of the laſt, we know nothing more than the general ſtatement of the directory, who ſay that the Auſtrians and Sardinians loſt 10,509 men (of which 8000 were priſoners,) with all their magazines, baggage, and ammunition, and forty pieces of cannon,

It is worthy of remark, that the day on which this battle took place is not ſpecified; and that it is called the battle of Monte Lezine, which appears to be the very place at which the firſt battle was fought, though that is denominated the battle of Montenotte. What reaſon the directory could have for publiſhing the general's letter, in one inſtance and not in the other, remains to be ſeen. It certainly expoſes them to a ſuſpicion of having exaggerated their advantages, and we have little doubt but that this will prove to be the caſe.

A letter from Hanover, dated April 20. ſays, "his highneſs the duke of Brunſwick is gone to Magdeburgh, where he will meet count Haugwitch, the Pruſſian miniſter of ſtate. The Magdeburgh regiments will ſoon be in motion. It is alſo ſaid, that, beſides the Pruſſians, 15,000 Hanoverians, 5000 Brunſwickers, and 5000 Heſſians will take the field for the defence of the line of neutrality. The whole force deſtined for this purpoſe will amount to 60,000 men, and be commanded by the duke of Brunſwick.

Sir Sydney Smith will probably be ſoon exchanged for the captain of one of the frigates lately taken by the active and gallant Sir Edward Pellew.

GENOA, APRIL 5.

The French are cloſe under the walls of Genoa, which has cauſed great conſternation. Since the arrival of the repreſentative, Salicetti, an inſurrection is much dreaded, as many tri-coloured cockades are to be ſeen in Genoa as if it was a French city. Many of the rich citizens have ſent their effects into Tuſcany. About forty of the Senators having proteſted againſt advancing any more money to the French have fled with their caſh and jewels to Turin, when an inſurrection occurring there, they were obliged to depart for Milan, where they reſide by the permiſſion of the archduke Ferdinand.

The above diſturbance was however quelled by the aſſiſtance of the Auſtrians, and the ring-leaders are arreſted.

TURIN, APRIL 4.

At the moment we thought the French army would be obliged to retreat for want of proviſions, we learn they are taking meaſures to make themſelves maſters of the city of Genoa, where a great number of the inhabitants are in their intereſt: ſhould this be the caſe, the numerous magazines, and eſpecially the rich bank of St. George, will furniſh them with the means of continuing the war with increaſed vigor.

MILAN, APRIL 5.

The Imperial troops are advancing on all ſides. It is ſaid they have already entered the important paſs of the Bochetta, and ſeveral other places upon the Genoeſe territory: of this information we expect the confirmation daily. The Imperial head-quarters have been at Alexandria ſince the 20th.

As ſoon as General Beaulieu heard of the intention of the French to make themſelves maſters of the Bochetta, he ordered the march of his troops to anticipate them.

CADIZ, MARCH 28.

Jean Francois, the St. Domingo negro, famous for the depradations which he committed in our colonies, is arrived at Cadiz. He bore all the diſtinctive marks of his military rank, a blue ribbon and two croſſes in gold, on the left ſide. He was received by a Spaniſh guard, with military honours, from which it is preſumed that the Spaniſh government will preſerve to him his rank in the army.

FRANKFORT, APRIL 10.

This evening at ſeven o'clock his royal highneſs the archduke Charles arrived here, and deſcended at the hotel of the Maiſon Rogue. He was received by a guard of honor, and with reiterated ſhouts of joy by the croud aſſembled to ſee him. His royal highneſs was made field-marſhal of the empire by the diet of Ratiſbon on the 5th inſtant. The French ſeem diſpoſing themſelves to open the campaign: part of their park of artillery, which conſiſts of 100 pieces of cannon, is already arrived at Traerbach. They have fortified the Montange Verte, near Treves, with the greateſt care; 5000 men are employed upon it, and it reſembles a fortreſs.

APRIL 11.

This morning the officers of the Imperial and Royal army here, went in a body to the Maiſon Rouge, to pay their compliments to the archduke Charles, who afterwards aſſiſted at parade, and at four o'clock in the afternoon his royal highneſs ſet off for Mentz.

All the regiments in the Auſtrian armies have received orders to hold themſelves in readineſs to march. It is ſaid that the ceſſation of the armiſtice will be declared on the 18th, and that the Auſtrian generals, Nauendorff and the Prince of Wurtemberg, will begin the operations.

To replace the troops which have been ſent from the army of general Wurmſer to the army of the lower Rhine, that general receives the following reinforcements; two battalions of Bender, the Curaſſier regiment of Lorain, and one of Latour.

The army of the Sambre and Meuſe is daily reinforced: the diviſion that occupies Duſſeldorff and a part of the dutchy of Berg receives principally theſe reinforcements. A ſecond bridge is to be eſtabliſhed at Duſſeldorff for the paſſage of the troops and artillery.

CUXHAVEN, APRIL 11.

Yeſterday evening the Hereditary Prince of Orange arrived here, in the prince of Orange packet, under convoy of a frigate of 44 guns, and this morning purſued his journey to Brunſwick.

Yeſterday evening a courier was ſent off, by the way of Hamburg, to Berlin, to announce his ſafe arrival to the court of Pruſſia.

Mr. Marriott
HAVING heard that it has been circulated that the play of Major Andre was an illiterate production, and conceiving ſuch a report might intimidate ſome ladies and gentlemen from honoring Mr. Marriott with their names in his propoſals for publiſhing the ſame, Mr. M. conceives it a duty incumbent upon him, not only for his own intereſt, but in defence of the late Mrs. M's writings, (which have hitherto reigned unblemiſhed by the voice of detraction) to reſide a ſpecimen of the ſaid play in the hands of Mr. Thomas, at his book ſtore, where any lady or gentleman may form their own opinion.

Twenty Dollars Reward.
RAN AWAY from the ſubſcriber, living in Centerville, Loudoun county, on the 13th inſt. a negro man called DAVID, (commonly called Davy Shanklin, about 22 years of age, 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, of a yellowiſh complexion, thick lips, has a lazy, ſluggiſh walk, is a very good hand at the whip ſaw, and underſtands blowing rocks tolerably well, his father lives with Mr. Lund Waſhington of Hayfield, and he has a number of relations and acquaintances, in the neighbourhood of the Gum Spring; his clothes unknown as he took a variety with him. Alexandria, June 28.

Extract from the official letters from Havre, addreſſed to the miniſter of the marine, dated April 18.

[Received by the ſhip Lion, from London, via Bermuda.]

"We hold, at laſt, Sydney Smith, that Engliſh incendiary, who burnt our ſhips at Toulon, the ſame man who lately endeavoured to ſet fire to the magazines of Havre: he, in ſhort, who had ſworn and promiſed to Pitt, to make of our ſea-ports and our fleets nothing but heaps of aſhes. Anchored in the night in this road with the Diamond, which he commanded, he came to carry off the Vengeur, and after a briſk cannonade he boarded her: when ſeveral ſmall veſſels ſent to meet him, attacked and forced him to ſurrender, with ſeveral officers of the Engliſh navy. His intention to ſet fire to this place, admits not of a doubt; for he had with him a faggot dipped in ſulphur, like that which was found ſome months ago under one of our frigates in the dock.

"We inform you, that having at Havre no place ſufficiently ſafe to keep him, we have ſent him to Rouen, under a ſafe and good eſcort, until the national juſtice ſhall pronounce upon the attempts of this monſter.

"We are aſſured that the directory have juſt ſent orders to have him conveyed to Paris, where he will be impriſoned as an incendiary.

"There is a rumor of complaints, addreſſed by the French government to the magiſtrates of Baſil, but we do not know the reaſons.

"The news of an inſurrection at Genoa, of the inhabitants the moſt attached to the French, ſeems to be confirmed—but we have received no details."

ALGERINES.

Extract of a letter from Mr. Alexander Forſyth, mate of the Schooner Hope, captured almoſt 11 years ago, dated at Algiers, April 5, 1796, to Captain Peter Bright.

"I have been here in ſlavery almoſt eleven years, and have never received a letter from any of my friends, except one from my uncle, and one from my aunt, and one from you, about three or four years ago, when you was in Cadiz; wherein you gave me credit to draw on Meſſrs. Fox & Barry, of Cadiz—but at that time I was not in want of money; but I muſt humbly thank you, as it was more than I could expect from ſo diſtant a relation, which is a favour I never received from any one during my whole captivity in this place—but ſhall ever remember it. I expected theſe two or three months paſt that my long ſlavery would be at an end, but now I am almoſt out of hopes if ever I ſhould ſee it. At the time I came here, our two crews conſiſted of 21 ſouls: and ſince that, plagues have taken off all here except five. All our misfortunes here are owing to the bad management of our miniſters in Europe. We have had theſe five or ſix months paſt, a peace here on very good terms—but it is now at an end, as the Dey has ordered the ambaſſador off in five days, if he does not pay him for them, which is not poſſible—ſo our hope of liberty is fruitleſs."

Extract of a letter from a reſpectable Houſe at Malaga, dated 28th April, received by the Eliza, capt. Arnold from Malaga.

"About the Algerines we are ſorry to inform you, that they are actually cruizing near our coaſt."

Extract of a letter from a reſpectable Houſe at Gibraltar, received by the ſame veſſel.

"We have already adviſed you to our apprehenſions, that the Algerines would again declare war againſt America; however we hope, ſuch ſteps may be taken, as will prevent their having time to do much miſchief."

There has been another dreadful fire in Charleſton. It broke out in the afternoon of the 11th inſtant, and is computed to have deſtroyed 300 front dwelling-houſes, with other property, amounting to the enormous ſum of 300,000 pounds. 600 families are ſaid to have been driven from their habitations by this melancholy cataſtrophe.

We hear, Mr. PIERCE BUTLER, Senator of the United States, from the ſtate of South Carolina, has reſigned his ſeat in the Senate.

From Kingſton we learn that a moſt mortal ſickneſs rages in the iſland of Jamaica.

The ſchooner Renwick, capt. Hunt, arrived in Philadelphia from Barbados, has brought the following particulars from captain Wyatt St. Barbe, of the ſhip Enterpriz e, belonging to Wiſcaſſet:

The ſhip Enterprize arrived here from Teneriffe about the 15th of April, with Britiſh troops on board, this ſhip was taken on her paſſage from Hamburgh to Surinam cloſe to Teneriffe, by the Britiſh tranſport Iſabella, commanded by Charles Porter, and carried into Teneriffe, where the tranſport was condemned as unfit to proceed to ſea, the particulars of the capture are as follows. At the time captain Barbe firſt ſaw the Iſabella, ſhe appeared to be in diſtreſs, which was abſolutely the caſe. both pumps were going, and her enſign hoiſted, union down: being far to leeward: the Enterprize might have avoided ſpeaking with her, but for the cauſe of humanity. Captain St. Barbe rendered the Iſabella every aſſiſtance in his power, and by his exertions has ſaved near 300 of his Britannic majeſty's ſubjects, ſoldiers, ſailors, &c. who immediately made a prize of his ſhip, and brought her to Barbados, where ſhe was libelled in the high court of Admiralty, as Dutch, French, or American property.

FROM THE GAZETTE OF THE UNITED STATES.

MR. FENNO,

I ſend you the ſubſtance of a letter from a man in public office in the French Republic at the Cape, to another Frenchman in this country, which was read by a confidential friend of his, and the particulars from memory communicated to me. It is very material that our merchants ſhould be generally apprized of the plan, and as I have no doubt of the authenticity of the intelligence, I think it my duty to publiſh it through the channel of the preſs. The manner in which it comes to me, does not permit me to diſcloſe the ſource—but you, who know your author, will not I am ſure ſcruple to vouch for the goodneſs of the authority.

A CITIZEN.

"It is determined to ſeize and bring in all American veſſels laden with proviſions* which ſhall be met with bound to any Engliſh port. Theſe will undergo a ſevere examination, and when the property appears to be Britiſh, it will be confiſcated; where it is clearly and without ſuſpicion American it will be detained but paid for, according as the means in our power furniſh. For this conduct we have ſeveral motives—to keep the ſupplies from our enemies, to obtain them for ourſelves. The embaraſſed ſtate of the finances of the republic has much narrowed the means of paying for what is wanted from abroad, and after what has happened, we cannot expect much future ſuccour from our credit with the American merchants. Beſides we have ſome political reaſons. It is well the merchants who have ſo zealouſly ſupported the treaty with Great Britain ſhould ſee that there are two ſides to queſtion, and that by temporizing with our enemy, they will not enjoy that full exemption from the inconveniences of war which they have promiſed themſelves.

It is alſo eſſential that we ſhould ſupport our friends in America, by fulfilling their predictions of evil from the Treaty. Perhaps you may ſhortly ſee a French fleet on your coaſt.

But do not imagine that there will be war with America. This will not happen. The Republic has no diſpoſition to a final rupture with that country, and we have no fears that it will come to an open breach with us. Notwithſtanding the coalition between PITT and WASHINGTON, we are well aſſured by our confidential friends that the attachment of the American people to the French nation will oblige the government to be paſſive, that if its folly ſhould prompt it to a rupture with us, there will be more to put on the tri-coloured cockade, than to join the ſtandard of the hypocritical Waſhington."

FROM THE MINERVA.

The following laughable affair happened in this city a few days ago. Some wags to try how far the credulty of citizen Greenleaf, the impartial and patriotic printer of the Argus, would carry him, fabricated a ſtory of the capture of an American by the name of Figſby, of the brig Fan Fan, of this port, by a New providence privateer, called the Sea Nymph, who preſſed two men, robbed him, &c. This ſtory was dropped into the printer's letter box, and the ſage Editor, tho' he muſt have had reaſon to doubt the truth of it from the mode of communication, and muſt have known that no ſuch captain or veſſel, belongs to this port, inſerted it in that ſpotleſs whig paper, the Argus, and the ſtory was copied into the Aurora, by citizen Bache where it ſtands as the eighth evidence of Britiſh amity. See the Aurora of June 15.

The wags afterwards called on citizen Greenleaf for his authority, and he made a feeble apology. See Argus of the 9th inſt.

MILL, MILL-SEATS and LANDS,

FOR SALE.

A valuable Merchant-Mill and SawMill, a never failing stream of water; with a Miller's House, Cooper's House, and Cooper's Shop, with or without about Eleven Hundred Acres of Valuable Land, situate, part in Loudoun and part in Fairfax County. The land is of good quality and uncommonly well watered, having three streams running through it, any of which are sufficient to turn two water wheels: and has three seats for the erecting of Mills, one of them in particular will not require a dam of much more than 50 feet, and the Mill can be placed immediately upon the road from Leesburg to Alexandria. The improvements are, a good dwelling House, and three other good Farm Houses.—One half of the land is yet in remarkably fine timber, which will make the Saw-Mill extremely valuable; and that which is cleared is under good fence. The Mill is distant from the Great Falls of Potomack, where extensive improvements are, making, about three miles; from the little Falls, where a bridge is now erecting across the Potomack River, about 8 miles; and from thence to the Federal City about 8 miles; and from Alexandria about 19 miles.——The whole will be sold together or any part thereof will be sold separate, so as to suit purchasers. Immediate possession can be had; and a liberal credit will be given for the purchase money.

Also, a valuable Tract of Land, containing 300 acres of prime Bottom, situate on Patterson's Creek, in Hampshire County, one mile and an half below Frankfort, and two and an half miles from Potomack River, where it is navigable for vessels of upwards of 100 barrels flour. The quality of the Land, I am informed, is nearly equal to that on the south branch of the Potiomack, and it has the advantage of a Grist-Mill within half a mile, and Limestone and Pit-Coal at a short distance.

Also, several Tracts of Land, of about 400 acres each, in Hampshire County, the quality of which I am unacquainted with
